- Strong alliances & international institutions
- Human rights & democratic values
- Global stability & conflict prevention
- A stronger, secure, and resilient America

HOW WE INTEND TO GOVERN

THE TWO FOUNDATIONS OF THE 1787 APPROACH

FOUNDATION 1

A Higher Standard of Leadership and Governing

The character of government matters as much as the policies it pursues. Integrity, truthfulness, transparency, accountability, civility, and respect for every American are fundamental standards that guide every decision, every policy, and every action of government.

A Comprehensive, Interconnected, Long-Term Approach

America's domestic and international challenges are deeply interconnected. 1787's 150+ policy proposals are designed not as isolated initiatives, but as coordinated components of an integrated, long-term national strategy.

1787's STRATEGIC FRAMEWORK FOR AMERICAN STRENGTH

THE FOUR D's

Four essential and interconnected pillars that advance America's strength, prosperity, and global leadership.

DOLLAR
Economic and financial strength

DIPLOMACY
International relationships and influence

DEVELOPMENT
Strategic foreign assistance and partnership programs that advance U.S. interests, stability, and shared prosperity.

DEFENSE
Military strength, deterrence, and a secure America

THE SPECIFIC PLAN

150+ Interconnected Policy Proposals

Specific actions supporting the six national goals, guided by the two foundations and informed by the Four D's.
Cross-cutting priorities—including immigration, trade, healthcare, and energy—are addressed through coordinated policies spanning multiple goals.
